Connecticut's Fiscal Crisis

History and Politics in the Land of Steady Habits

Tuesday, November 19, 2019 • 6:30 PM
Rotary Room, Main Library

Connecticut residents certainly face fiscal and economic challenges today, but history shows that we have been here before and overcome adversity. Connecticut's economic crisis of the early nineteenth century spurred a transformation that produced the state's first modern constitution (1818), tax reforms and economic stimulus programs. We will explore what parallels this episode in Connecticut's past may have for our political and economic situation today.
