“When work and home life blend, it can be hard to find a dedicated creative space to do your best work. This book offers a blueprint to build (or just reorganize) one of your most precious resources for new ideas: your home environment.”
– David Burkus, Author of The Myths of Creativity: The Truth About How Innovative Companies and People Generate Great Ideas”

My Creative Space

Wednesday, February 5, 2020 • 6:30 PM
Rotary Room, Main Library

You’re faced with a creative problem at work, but can’t figure a way to solve it. You need to throw something together for dinner, but don’t know which ingredients to pull from the fridge. You’re staring at a blank page, but ideas refuse to come out. Surprisingly, the solutions to your creative dilemmas might lie where you least expect them—in the design of your own home. In his new book, My Creative

Space, award-winning architect, author, and educator Donald M. Rattner explains how simple and accessible techniques for shaping your home can boost creativity and spark innovation. Drawing on the latest research in psychology and productivity, Rattner offers a first of its kind how-to guide for unlocking a home’s hidden power to promote insight and imagination regardless of size, type, style, or location.
