Virtual Macramé Feather Take & Make

Macramé was a large textile surge popular in the 1970s — contraptions for hanging plants, belts, bags, and other accessories favored by bohemians. The origin of macramé actually stretches back to the 13th century at least and is based on a simple structure: the knot. Carried on through the centuries by sailors passing time on long voyages, this type of fiber art is making a steady comeback. Register to learn to macramé a feather for your wall or your valentine with us virtually on Friday, February 12, 2021. Take & Make kits will be distributed on Wednesday February 10, at the Fairfield Woods Branch Library from 12-2pm, and 4-5pm.
