

WHEN A PET DIES... with author Sydney Sherman

Saturday, July 8th * 2pm
Fairfield Woods Branch Libray

The loss of a pet is the loss of a friend, companion and family member. In this new lecture, Sydney Sherman will help us understand how our pets can still be with us even after they pass. From the familiar sounds of their paws running down the hallway, to their scratching at the back door and even jumping up on your lap for a belly rub! All can still be experienced, and she will help us to learn how.

Sydney Sherman has more than four decades of educating others. She is a rational voice in a sea of false paranormal claims. Her hope is that each of us can determine the reality of the afterlife in a rational and scientific way. As a career registered nurse, her mission is to promote a greater understanding of death and the energies of life.
